WINNING LINE - THE PROJECT MANAGEMENT FACTOR

WHAT IT IS

- A flexible, holistic project management environment with a pragmatic approach to all aspects and all kinds of projects.
- A modular system with a direct line to reality, harvesting progress from day 1 and developing an internal team of professionals, capable of mastering every kind of project challenge.
- An immensely rewarding training and coaching programme with shockingly beneficial results.
- A standard relevant to each market and every workspace.

OUR USP<sub>s</sub>

- Each Champions Day contains a healthy mix of targeted theory training, team development and practical learning with the help of internal applied Champions projects.
- Winning Line is based on decades of experience planning, managing and often recovering projects of all shapes and sizes.
- We are convinced that anyone who can drive a car can also run a project, which is why we have based all our training modules on this comparison.
- There is no such thing as a complex solution and we have worked hard to reduce complexity in all that we do, delivering training modules in bite size chunks, ready to be applied to reality.

HOW WE WORK

- Each Champion programme delivers a tight-knit team of internal professionals with a joint understanding of both theory and practice.
- Because it is a train the trainer programme, your new team of Project Champions will be well prepared to pass on their new skills to further colleagues.
- In the case of the Winning Line, this equates to an internal competence to plan, deliver and recover projects, with a minimum amount of administrative effort.
- Because the Champions manage their own projects throughout the programme, their experiences make the practical side of project management clear and accelerates progress through sharing each challenge together.
- The End game is a mature, communicative culture with all projects on track and minimum risk.
